

FM Belfast is a Reykjavík- and Copenhagen-based supergroup celebrated for their neon-colored, confetti-laden, club-fueled electro-pop vibes. Oddball, energetic and colorful are probably the best words to describe them. Since 2005 they've been travelling around, bringing joy to audiences in sweaty dancehalls and sunbaked festivals. With four studio albums, countless remixes and all kinds of everything under their belt they can proudly call themselves professionals. Dancing electro-lovers know they're in good and capable hands of these veterans of fun.
